The Government has introduced a number of mainly temporary changes to permitted development rights aimed at deregulating the planning system and stimulating the economy. The changes came into effect on 30 May 2013.

A number of the changes involve the introduction of a prior approval process, allowing the Council to assess the impact of the development. As with other prior approval regimes, unless a decision is made within the prescribed time period, the applicant will be able to proceed with the development.

The Chief Planning Officer currently has delegated authority to determine whether or not prior approval of details is required for demolition, telecommunications equipment and agricultural / forestry buildings and operations and to approve or refuse such submitted details.

Committee are asked to recommend that Council agree to extend the scheme of delegation to allow the Chief Planning Officer to determine all prior approval applications submitted following the recent changes to permitted development rights following the introduction of The Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (Amendment) (England) Order 2013. This will include a permanent change to the delegation agreement in respect of prior approval applications relating to change of use permanently to a state-funded school and change of use to agricultural buildings; but only a temporary change to the scheme of delegation for a period of three years in relation to prior approval applications for house extensions and changes of use from offices to residential.
